WE THE PEOPLE SOLIDARITY MARCH

Local citizens will protest to remind lawmakers who they work for and demand their accountability

CITY - September XX, 2019 - On Day, September Date, 2019, a We the People Solidarity March will take place at Time & Location. This peaceful assembly is one of numerous We The People Solidarity Marches being held in more than 60 cities. More than 100,000 people are expected to attend the We The People March being held in Washington, D.C. on Saturday, September 21st to demonstrate that the current status quo is a threat to our democracy and values.

The national We the People March is a grassroots effort spearheaded by activist and author Amy Siskind, president of The New Agenda, and co-sponsored by concerned citizens and activists from across the U.S. "So many of us worked for two years ahead of midterms, to take a majority and put a check in place and finally have accountability. That hasn't happened. So many Americans are concerned with losing our democracy and values. We are marching to be seen and heard, and to remind our elected officials that they work for us!" said Amy Siskind. In addition to planning the D.C. event, local activists have organized solidarity marches across the nation - and the globe - with more marches being added weekly.
